The Organ Grinders' Organization The organ grinders of New York city have an organization more close even than the Knights of Labor, and they have parceled out the whole town in routes just as the newspaper carriers have done in Philadelphia. > Significance of Tattooing. In a recent issue of the The Vienna Anthropological Society Dr. M. Halber-landt discusses the origin, extent and significance of tattooing. He does not be-lieve that it was at first meant merely as ornament. He attributes it to a religious significance, the figures described on the skin having some reference to the totemic or ancestral god of the clan, and serving as a protection to the wearer. In latter days, when this meaning had faded the figure became a mere style of personal decoration. Dr. Halberlandt draws a distinction between tattooing, in which the figures are delineated by inserting a fine pointed instrument repeatedly into the skin, and what he calls, from an Australian word the manks, in which process the lines are scratched or cu' and the coloring matter rubbed in. This distinction he maintains as important as an ethnological criterion.—Boston Budget. "The oldest locomotive now in use anywhere near Chicago," remarked a railroader, "is No. 60 on the Illinois Central still making regular trips down the road. She has hauled passenger trains, freight 7:15a.m. trains, special trains, pay cars, gravel trains and done switching. She has been 6:15 p. m. in several accidents, but was never badly damaged. She has killed 'her man' half a dozen times. The average life of a lecomotive is ten or twelve years, and so 10:42 a.m. you can see that old No. 60 is a stayer. -Chicago Herald.

The Only Way to Conquer Dyspepsis. It is perfectly preposterous to introduce pepsin and other artificial solvents into the stomach, in the expectation that they will assist digestion by acting on the food itself. They will not. Nor is it possible thus to overcome dyspepsia. The only way to con-quer that disorder, and prevent the numerus diseases and disabilities which it assuredly provokes, is to renew the activity of gastric action by strengthening the stom-ach. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters eradidates the most inveterate forms of indigestion by restoring vitality to the alimentary organs, and those which are tributary to them. The liver, the bowels, the kidneys and the nerves, no less than the stomach, experience the invigorative effects of that standard tonic, which possesses alterative proprierties that greatly enhance its beneficial influence, and give a permanence to its effects which they would not otherwise

A FIELD OF GLASS

In the morning (it was light now) when the sun rose it shone on what appeared to be a field of glass and a city of crystal. Ice was to be seen all around as far as the eye could penetrate. There was ice in every size and form imaginable, and the most wonderful thing about it was that many of the masses resembled the buildings of a city. There were houses and churches, monuments, spires and ruins. There were also islands and mountains. Some were low and flat, others tall, with jagged tops, many of them miles and miles in extent. There were a number of bergs or ice mountains higher than the mainmast of the tallest ship. These were almost white but had many places a greenish blue color that was soft and beautiful. The whole scene shone and sparkled so brilliantly in the light of the just returning sun that one could almost fancy that this was the region of fairyland.

Here was a very large berg immediately before us. It was jagged in form and high rather than broad. Great peaks rose up like mountain tops in some wild highland region. There was no apparent motion to this, and the waves beat and rolled upon its base just as they do on the shores of an island. It seemed like a mountain planted in the sea, only it was white instead of green, as a mountain should be. There were cracks and tents You are feeling depressed, your appetite is poor, you are bothered with headache, you are fidgitty, nervous, and generally out color. There were also slopes and crags and precipices down which the water of melted ice flowed in wild torrents. Many of these were equal to small rivulets and some of the waterfalls were beautiful. water.

This somersault has sealed the fate of this dangerous floating monster and its end is near. Let us watch and wait, and from our hut on the ice hummock we listen for some sound that should serve as a signal. In two days we are sum-moned by loud reports that sound like great guns. Hastening to our lookout we see great open seams have been sprung in the sides from the top to the water, and doubtless below. Rotten as it is, this berg cannot stand this change of position. Crack after crack is sprung with deafen-ing report. Lumps of all sizes fall from its sides. Then there is a roar like long continued thunder and a moment after the whole mass sinks down in ruin and

Jack's Hour of Leisure

Reckless of their money as sailors are known to be when on a spree, they are models of economy when at sea on a long voyage. Spare hours are devoted to mending their clothing, the sole object in selecting a patch where one is needed being to get a patch that will stand as much wear sible. Dungaree trousers patched with a piece of a jib or topsail that has been blown to pieces are not uncommon. The pipe which Jack brings on board, if of clay, may be broken but the pieces are carefully saved and doweled together ingeniously with bits of wire. If the pipe be of wood a piece of an old tin can that has held cabin grub is obtained from the is made for the pipe that prolongs the existenc of the wooden bowl until it has a strength that would make a longshoreman turn pale. A marline spike and a hammer with a piece of leather for a polisher are the only tools used.

Mat making is another favorite occupa tion of the sailor man. He usually works with fine materials, such as silks and worsted, and the care and skill and taste with which these materials are wrought together are wonderful. Many a cabin in the vessels that enter this port is orna-mented with no end of banners and mottoes for the bulkheads and mats for the table, sideboards and floors that were made by the men in their off hours, and if purchased at a fancy store would cost hundreds of dollars.-New York Sun.

"The Devil and the Deep Sea." The old story of the poor soul who was caught between "The devil and the deep sea," gets a new illustration from the dealing of doctors and drugs with maiaria. The story is soon told: "My daughter," said a lady, "had been struggling with maiaria for four years. She was all the time out of health—poor appetite, disordered digestion, pale earthy color, pain in the head, limbs and back, and every now and then a right hard chill, followed by fever. Then we would send for our doctor and he would prescribe quinine, just as he did from the first—and so kept doing all along—until the name of quinine sounds like the tolling of the bell. Clearly between the two, with a mighty crash falls flat on the health was being ruined and her very life in peril. She was really between 'The devil and the deep sea.' I was redeed to a living skeleton. Friends family and physician had given me up. I was keeping the spark of life alive with a diet of raw eggs and milk. Now both stomach and liver are performing their functions. I have many friends in Western Ohio, N. E. Iowa and S.W. Mo. who would like to know this."

"I want something to cure my cough. I have tried our doctor, and almost every proprietary medicine I ever heard of, but nothin seems to do me any good," a lady said to the clerk in a large drug-store.

"Gooch's Mexican Syrup gives the most general satisfaction of any thing we have ever sold, and is pronounced by some of our most prominent people to be the best remedy for coughs and lung troubles ever put upon the market. We sell more of it than all other cough remedies put together. You see our customers risk nothing in buying, as the proprietors authorize all druggists to guarantee it; so if this does not give you satisfaction, we will refund the money. It has made some remarkable cures." he A WORD TO CONSUMPTIVES. Consumptives, because all other things fail, believe not that Gooch's Mexican Syrup will. CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. Tuberculous matter is nothing more than nourishment imperfectly organized. Now, if we can procure the organization of this food material so that through the process of electric affinity it may take its place in the system, we can cure the disease. This is just what Gooch's Mexican Syrup does: It at once stops the progress of the disease by preventing the further supply of tubercalous matter, for while the system is under its influence all nourishment is organized and assimilated. It controls Coughs, Night-Sweats, and all other symptoms of consumption. GOOCH'S MEXICAN SYRUP HAS CURED THOUSANDS AND IT WILL CURE YOU. and an other symptoms of consumption. GOOCH'S MEXICAN SYNUP HAS CORED I HOUSANDS AND IT WILL CORE TOU.
